VERY GOOD

Protecting temperature sensitive products has traditionally relied on visual checks plus the completion of documented records to demonstrate compliance. Completing these records can be time consuming for staff, it is also possible for records to be mislaid, forgotten or even falsified. If temperature control is critical to your business, Tiaki from AmbaSense is here to help you provide indisputable evidence of legal compliance, and form an important part of your business's due diligence.

Also featuring built in HACCP functionality with automatic email reminders if your personalized opening and closing checks are not completed.

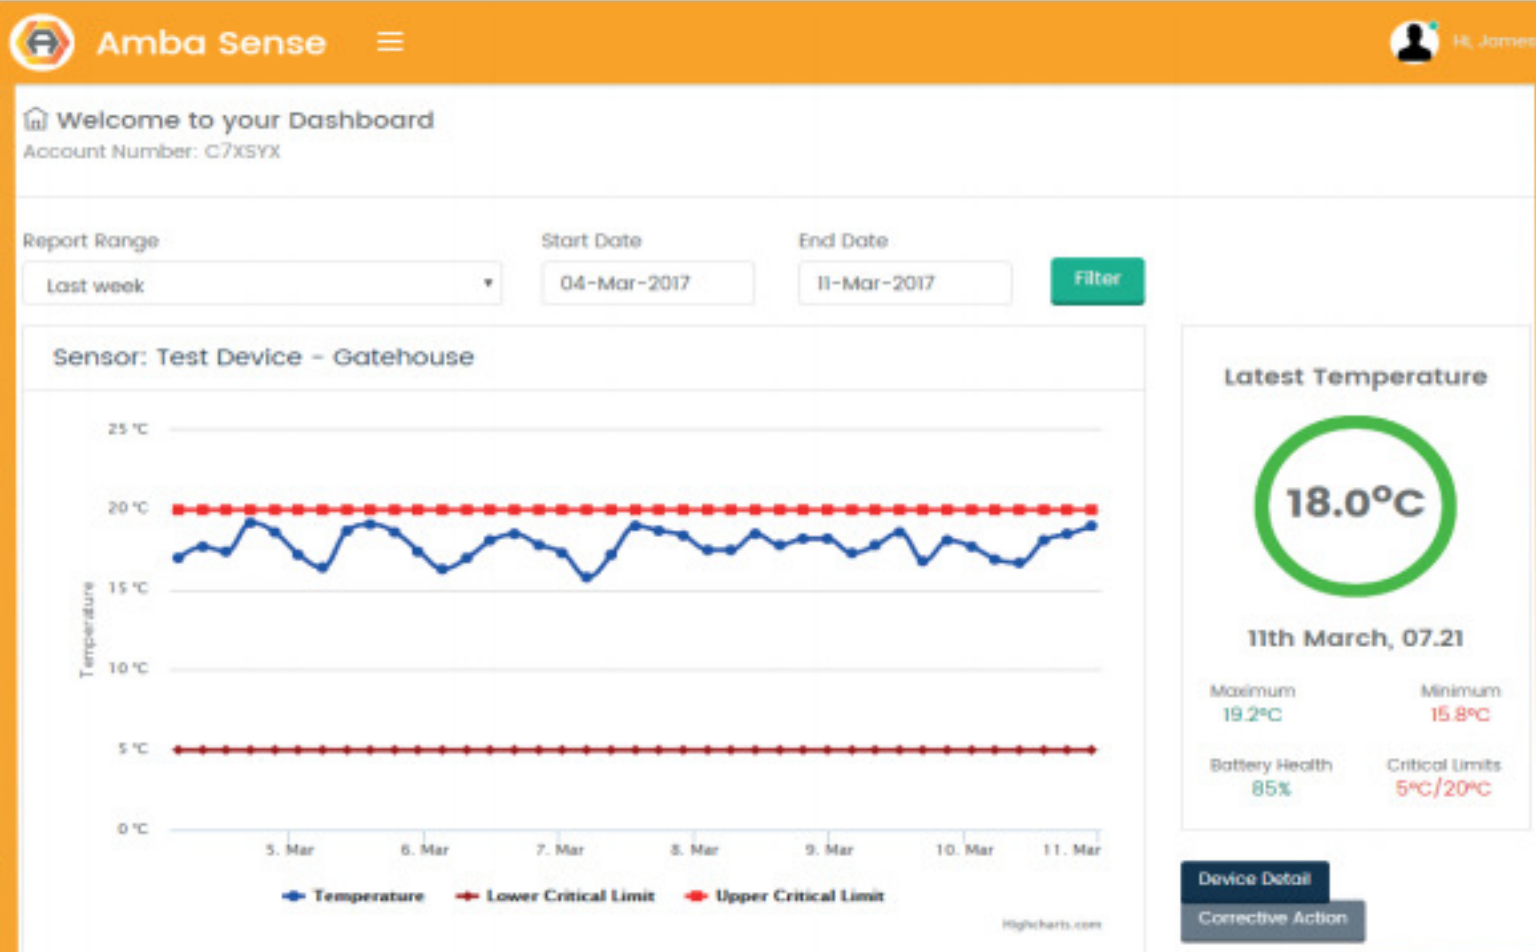

Tiaki. An Affordable Solution

Unlike most wireless temperature monitoring choices, Tiaki by AmbaSense is an affordable solution. There are no additional hardware or software requirements. If what you require is an easy to configure solution with no extra running costs then look no further.

Tiaki takes the worry out of temperature monitoring and allows you to focus on running your business
